The Big Apple Comic Con is New York's oldest comic book and toy show... I had not been to it in many years but went as an attendee. It's good to see that it hasn't really changed all that much- and despite the somewhat crowded show floor (inevitable in Manhattan) there was much to be seen. An upcoming event is scheduled for September 2007, and we are planning on attending as artist exhibitors. More information to come as it becomes available!
